

PROJECT PROFILE

CELLULAR TOWER
HAYES-BARTON UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA

The height and location of this church spire made it an excellent place to disguise cellular antennae.

The original steeple was made of metal, so Fiberglass Specialties was hired to re-create the top portion using RF-transparent composite materials.

The result is a beautiful, functional spire, and a win-win situation.

Local Representative: CFBS, Inc. Anderson, SC

antenna
inside!

"Manufacturers of Quality Architectural Fiberglass Products"